Yokohama City Local Japanese Language Education Promotion System

【Local Japanese Language Classes】

- Local Japanese language classes provide a variety of support opportunities for foreign residents to live as a member of the community, including “a familiar place to learn Japanese language necessary for daily life,” “a place to understand the structure of the Japanese social system and to consult on daily life,” and “a place to meet and interact with other residents living in the same community. These activities are the result of local residents' initiative based on their mutual support, and are indispensable for the promotion of multiculturalism in Yokohama.
- Local Japanese language classes provide an opportunity to grasp various issues closely related to daily life, in addition to issues related to the acquisition of Japanese. While valuing the autonomy of each local Japanese language class, it is important to share issues with a wide range of entities and link them to support for foreign residents so that local Japanese language classes do not hold onto the issues they have grasped.
